

THIS WHIRLING WORLD

By Don Lall

Here's a toast to the host of men out yonder flying high. Yes, the Allied Air forces are scoring again for the old home team, with the American Flying Fortresses and Liberators pounding five big enemy airbases in Greece and Crete. Elysia airfield near Athens was left in ruins by incendiary and fragmentation bombs on Sunday, October 10. The Sedes Airport was one sharp blast, then a mass of fire. These two largest bases, along with numerous others, may be accredited to our own American Air force.

Russians Rush On

On the Russian front, the Red Army has smashed Germany's indispensable Dnieper river line, leaving behind them over 2,000 bodies of Hitler's "unconquerable heroes." As the Reds enter their third round with an edge, their fellow fighters, the guerrillas, are doing an excellent job taking over Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

Portugal Joins Allies

Our army on foot is coming up through Italy to push our enemies back into their own country. Along with Hitler's other troubles, Turkey has granted to Great Britain, their anti-submarine bases in the Azores, even though the Portuguese plans are to remain neutral. Our new ally is a stepping stone between the United States and Europe. Our first project is to build an airbase there to combat the submarines.

Nazis Burn Town

The Nazis are burning the Russian town of Kiev to make it hot for Stalin. The Russians are rushing on to the German border. The fleet is giving it to them down under on the Sea of Azov and pushing all "pure Aryans" toward their Mecca. Gamel is being evacuated, too, which will be told by Berlin as a planned withdrawal or a fast way to run backward.

With the above summary in mind, we have given Schickelgruber the allotted number of strikes for one thing now that we are the batters up. Let's boost the boys with bonds.

Fraternities Are Practically Out, Says Dean Jones

Fraternities are practically out for the duration, according to Dr. T. J. Jones, dean of men. Very few pledges were taken into any fraternity this year. In contrast to the usually large amount of freshman material for pledging, only 75 eligible men are in school this quarter. Most of these are going into the armed services in the near future.

A few of the fraternity houses have been taken over by the University for women's residence halls.

The fraternities will not be active in most instances, aside from some weekly meetings of old members. The rushing that has been carried on has not been done in the usual manner.

In the words of Dean Jones, "This is just not a fraternity year. Conditions are not favorable for them."

New Insignia Being Issued To ASTP

Army Specialized Training men are being issued a special official insignia. It was announced this week. Men stationed on the campus will soon begin wearing the new emblem.

The insignia, designed by the Quartermaster corps and the Army Special Service division, rests on a yellow background, octagonal in shape. It depicts the sword of valor against a lamp of knowledge, both of which are in blue.

Production has begun and distribution will be completed soon.

Campus Drive Opens Oct. 25 Goal Of $2,000 Is Set By SGA

With a goal of $2,000, the SGA sponsored all-campus War Chest drive will open October 25, according to plans made at the regular Tuesday night meeting of the Assembly.

Bart Peak, YMCA secretary, spoke to the group and suggested that a committee work out plans and an organizational set-up designed to contact each student personally and solicit $1.00 from every civilian and soldier on the campus.

Vincent Spagnuolo, SGA president, announced the appointment of Dr. Adolph Bigge and Dr. Margaret Ratliff as faculty sponsors of the Assembly. Members were appointed from the agriculture, engineering, and education colleges, as well as the graduate school to prepare lists of eligibles to fill vacancies in SGA left by withdrawals.

Ray Garrison reported that a contract for the quarterly publication of the University directory had been signed with the Hurst printing company of Lexington. The date upon which the directories may be obtained by students will be announced in advance by The Kernel.

Jimmy Hurt, Jay C. Doyle, and Betty Tevis were appointed as a committee to investigate the possibilities of allowing soldiers to elect representatives to SGA.

Frances Jenkins, budget committee chairman, presented the suggested 1943-44 budget which the SGA approved unanimously. Included was a suggestion that $500 of the association's miscellaneous fund be used to purchase a war bond for the Assembly.

The Assembly voted to hold meetings hereafter on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. Absentees were Osborne Judd, Amelia Mason, Buddy White, Bill Embry, Alice Watkins, Marybelle Calvert, Margaret Newell, Margaret Erskine, Winston Hendrickson, and William Shropshire.

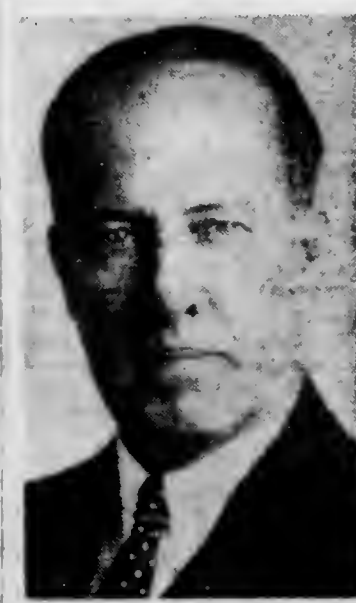

Mumford Named Faculty Advisor

At the first meeting of the Home Economics club this quarter Miss Mary Mumford, assistant professor of home economics, was selected as faculty advisor for this year.

A party will be held tonight for all club members, new home economics students, and freshmen.

The next club meeting will be held on Monday night.

Author Slated To Speak At Next Convo

John Graves Temple II

John Graves Temple II, lecturer, lawyer, and author, will speak at the quarter's second convocation at 11 a.m. Thursday in Memorial hall. All civilian classes will be dismissed during the fourth hour.

Dr. Temple, who is also an economist and journalist, has chosen as his subject Wonders Yet To Be. The speaker served in World War I, and, in 1919, was a member of the American Peace commission in Paris. Since then, he has been on the editorial staff of the Birmingham Age-Herald. His most recent book is The Fighting South.

Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, dean and registrar of the University, will preside at the convocation.

Ten Freshmen Rate Highest In Placement Tests

Names of the ten members of the freshman class who rated highest in the placement tests given them when they entered the University have been announced by Dr. M. M. White, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The students are Martha B. Mann, Barbara J. Allen, Mary E. Gifford, Robert W. Poundstone, and Gene Whicker, all of Lexington; Elizabeth D. Boone, Berea, Ohio; Elizabeth B. Broadus, Louisville; Helen L. Ellis, Maysville; Hubbard Wright Smith, Paris; and Mary Velotta, Owensboro.

ROTC Classes Report Decreases In Enrollment

Actual enrollment in University ROTC classes has declined 77 percent since March, 1942, according to Lt. Arthur Erickson. Although the number of military men in uniform has been greatly increased, enrollments in the 3518th ROTC Service unit have decreased from 749 freshmen and sophomores in 1942 to 174 this quarter.

ROTC classes are being instructed by Capt. Robert L. Stivers, commander of Co. E, ASTRP; Capt. Murray M. Montgomery, Jr., commander of Co. F, ASTRP; and T. Sgt. Elmer O. Klinker.

Two years military instruction is compulsory for all men enrolled in the University.

Dance Scheduled For Tomorrow

The Dance committee of the Union board will hold an informal dance from 9 to 12 o'clock tomorrow night in the ballroom of the Union building.

Admission for men will be 25 cents. Women are admitted free on presentation of their hostess cards.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Elizabeth Moores, book store employee; Mrs. Hugh Sweat, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Mrs. Crutcher and Mrs. Beeler, hostesses of the Union building; and Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Capurso.

First Aid Class Now Offered

A class offering first aid training to University students is now being formed.

The class meets from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays in the Gym annex. Instructions will be given in bandaging, splinting, and artificial respiration.

Standard certificates and 3 hours credit will be awarded on completion of the course, announced Margaret Warren, instructor.

Present enrollment shows 13 men and 42 women.

Movie Of UK To Be Shown Picture Set For Tuesday

"The University in War and Peace," a new sound movie recently prepared by the University, will be shown Tuesday night at 7:15 and again at 8:15 in Memorial hall.

Portrayed in the film is the way a modern state university has adapted itself to the exigencies of modern warfare. Shown is the groundwork laid by the University for many years before Pearl Harbor; the physical equipment of buildings, laboratories; faculty, staff, and organizations which now are important to the war effort.

Views of current war activities on the campus are shown, including many types of research, the instruction being given the Army Specialized Training Program selectees, and the work in agriculture. Off-campus activities of the University include the University agricultural sub-station at Quicksand, Breathitt county, and a radio listening center at Wooton, Leslie county.

Featured in the movies is the extension division of the College of Agriculture, with several sequences devoted to by-product research in tobacco, gardening methods, and stock and small animal husbandry.

Nostalgic touches in the film are shots of the football team playing on Stoll field, and the "Best Band in Dixie" in formation.

K-Dets Slated To Be Reorganized At 5 p.m. Tuesday

K-dets, women's drill team, will be re-organized at 5 p.m. Tuesday, in the Armory. The organization will be sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, military honor, under the supervision of Pfc. John Dallavo.

Meetings will be held every Tuesday and Thursday from 5 to 6 p.m., he said.

Former members of the drill team will receive service bars at the first meeting.

Assisting Pfc. Dallavo will be Pfc. William Wickman, John Kerr, Dick Webb, and Robert Myer, former juniors who have returned to the campus under ROTC-ASTP.

Seniors Must Apply For Degrees

All seniors and graduate students who expect to complete the requirements for their degrees at the end of the fall, winter, spring, or summer quarter must apply Monday or Tuesday in room 16, Administration building.

"Pin-Up Girl" Is Title Given Union Hostess By Soldiers

By Pat Pollack

After discovering that Mrs. Shirley Beeler is one of those rare people who can without making the obvious remarks, tell you where the steps going to the grill downstairs are when you are standing right by them, we voted her the perfect interview victim of the week and proceeded to find out more.

"Pin Up Girl" of the University's khaki clads, Mrs. Beeler is on the roster of the school employees as the Hostess of the Union building, a title which she smilingly admits doesn't half cover the job she does.

Answering endless questions, revealing guests, making lonely students feel at home, being "ersatz" mother to the University's soldier population, solving love problems, selling stamps, stationery, and magazines, and keeping the Student Union building the pleasant place it is, are just a few of her duties.

"But it's lots of fun and there's never a dull moment," Mrs. Beeler explained as I propped my elbows on the counter and settled down for a long talk.

Voting Set For 9 a.m.-4 p.m. In Great Hall

Two soldiers will be elected to the Union board at a mass student body election between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Great hall of the Union building.

At present there are seven members on the board representing the civilian students on the campus but there are no representatives from the 1,250 service men. Feeling that the soldiers should have more voice in student affairs, the board voted that soldiers should be elected to fill the two vacancies which now exist.

The board nominated the following:

Jacob A. Bedenbough, T 4, who has an A. B. degree from Newberry college, South Carolina. He was president of his senior class in college, editor of the annual, member of the Appeals and Excuses committee of the Literary society, and taught high school for three years.

Corporal J. W. Cunningham, who was a senior in industrial engineering at Rensselaer college. He was president of Theta Chi fraternity, a member of the Inter-Fraternity council, a member of Felanks Honorary society, and captain of the varsity football team.

Pvt. J. H. C. Dick, who was a student at the University of Virginia. He was a law student and a member of the Student Assembly.

All students are urged to vote, according to Edith Weisenberger, president of the board. They should bring means of identification, including driver's licenses, draft cards, or registration receipts.

Alexander Capurso Will Address AAUW Monday

Dr. Alexander Capurso, executive director of the music department, will address the American Association of University Women at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Music room of the Union building.

His subject will be "Tschalkowsky, His Music and Romances," illustrated by some of the author's records which show the direct influence of his romance with the woman he never met.

Military Review Set Tomorrow

A military review will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday on Stoll field. It has been announced. Six companies of service men stationed on the campus will pass in parade.

The public is invited to attend, according to Col. B. E. Brewer.

Publication Lists Biographies Of School Leaders

Sixteen University students have been chosen to have their biographies included in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," an announcement received today reveals.

Those named for the 1943-44 edition are Cella Bederman, Eloise Bennett, Jay C. Doyle, Sarah Ewing, Helen Harrison, Jimmy Hurt, Julia Johnson, Martha Kopplis, Virginia Lipscomb, Virginia Long, Anita Rosen, James Saunders, Vincent Spagnuolo, Carolyn Spicer, Mary Norma Weatherspoon, and Edith Weisenberger.

Picking students from over 600 of the nation's colleges, the publication chooses those to be listed without fees or politics. Selections are based on leadership, character, scholarship, and potentialities, and the publishers maintain a reference service for employers.

Cella Bederman, journalism senior from Lexington, is editor of The Kernel. Formerly she was a reporter, assistant managing editor, and co-managing editor of the paper. She is vice-president and keeper of the archives of Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity, and a member of Mortar Board, women's senior leadership fraternity. She was formerly an associate editor of the University bulletin, a member of Cub club, sophomore journalism honorary, a feature writer for the Y's Owl, a member of the Union Publicity committee, and a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic fraternity.

Eloise Bennett, senior home economics student from Williamstown, is president of Alpha Gamma Delta, social sorority. She has been secretary of the Student Government association for two years and is a representative of the Agriculture college in the Assembly. She is secretary of the Student Union board and has been a member of the Art committee for two years. Vice-president of Panhellenic council, she is a member of the YWCA cabinet, the Agriculture council, Pitkin club, Home Economics club, the 240 committee, and the Kentucky team.

Doyle, junior in arts and sciences from Lexington, is vice-president of the Union board, President of Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity, chairman of the Union Dance committee, a representative to the Student Government association, and a member of Phalanx. During the past summer he played the lead in the Guignol production of Young April, and last year he appeared in My Sister Ellen. He was formerly social chairman and chorister of Phi Delta Theta.

Sarah Ewing, home economics senior from Anchorage, is president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority, and of the Panhellenic council. She was chairman of the SGA Social committee last year and was an ROTC sponsor for two years. She was a member of the Y Freshman club and rush chairman of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Helen Harrison, arts and sciences senior from Lexington, is vice-pres-

Question: Are you in favor of more social life on the campus?

Pfc. Kenneth Jones, ROTC. How could we have more social life when we have to stay in all the time?

Marjorie Freeman, A&S, Junior. "More" ain't the word for it.

Pfc. Don Holding, Patterson hall. I certainly am, because I am socially inclined.

Margaret Wharton, A&S, sophomore. Yes, because things are getting dull.

Mary Louise Symphon, Agriculture, freshman. Definitely, because UK isn't like I heard it was.

Cpl. Willie Wolfe, Patterson hall. What social life?

Eddie Jacobs, ASTRP, Boyd hall. Yes, then we'd get to know the girls better.

Pvt. Al Silverman, Bradley hall. Yes, and I'm also in favor of more girls playing tennis.

Pvt. Henny Singman, Women's gym. Yes, it is a good means of building up the morale of the co-eds as well as the service men.

"I'm in a hurry. Give me the ingredients of a milk shake."

Ad Libbing

By Betty Tevis
Betty Lee Fleishman

Said one little mouse at Bradley hall after reading last week's Kernel: "Just think, Mabel, our name in the news! We're famous! And to think some jerks would rather be a man than a mouse!"

Suggestion: Let's have a regular Sadie Hawkins week just as we have had in the years past. We could all join in on the spirit of the thing—the girls buying the boys cokes, walking on the outside of the sidewalk, holding the door open as Prince Charming waltzes through, and paying all of the expenses incurred on a date.

Wait a minute! What are we saying? Piggy bank better taken up first!

Funniest thing we've seen in months is the ingodly illustration on page 252 of PSYCHOLOGY by John J. B. Morgan, text in the psych course that every dutiful freshman is taking this quarter.

The illustration shows an unhappy looking dog trussed to an awkward overhead beam by three loops of rope. The poor canines feet are manacled and he can't move. To his mouth are attached two tubes which flow to a disc over a little graduated tube and to the tube is connected a very delicate pointer device. It seems that the experimenter holds a sizeable hunk of steak in the poor mutt's face and then rings a little bell. The animal drools copiously into the tube, thence to the vial, as the kumograph records the amount of saliva. After tantalizing the poor canine with 18 points of beef, the experimenter (a sort of Simon Legree personality) then merely rings the bell and the dog drools.

All this paraphernalia is designed to prove that the dog associates the ringing of the bell with food. That is a conditioned reaction learning, says the author of the text.

We've seen more fantastic things in a lurid pulp magazine the kid next door used to read when he was 8 years old. We hope that this sort of experimentation isn't what they do at M. I. I. or the Rockefeller Foundation. We can't see what possible difference it makes whether a pooch has a DQ (Drool Quotient) of 2.5 or 978.3. Incidentally, we think the poor animal in the picture, when the experimenter untied him, probably spit in the old boy's eye. And we don't blame him, either.

We're still chuckling over the story of the poor little private who sneaked out of barracks last Monday and went to the circus. Feeling free as the proverbial bird, our hero wandered under the big top munching popcorn and enjoying Mr. Ringling's major attractions. He knew that he was risking his military future by being out of quarters but "Aha!" he thought, "No one will ever know."

And then he walked up the bleachers to his seat and guess who was sitting beside him? You guessed it — his company commander.

Sequel: The captain has a good sense of humor—and now the incident is a classic joke in the Company.

Why A Residence Requirement

Under the new constitution of the Student Government association Assembly a requirement for candidacy and election is two quarters of residence at the University. This provision, which excludes incoming freshmen from membership in the Assembly, has received little publicity and has never been explained to the general student body.

In former years a man and a woman were elected to the legislature by the freshman class from a list of candidates made up of the names of those ranking in the upper tenth of the class on entrance examinations.

That mere scholastic merit was a criterion of legislative ability had always been a moot question. That candidates chosen beforehand by the various political cliques on the campus were summarily elected was an indisputable fact.

And that these two representatives, entirely unfamiliar with the campus and its problems, took a very negligible part in the proceedings was evident to everyone.

The Constitutional committee, made up of students and faculty members, which drafted the new constitution was aware of the inability of incoming freshmen to take an active part in the legislature because they lacked the necessary background. Weighing the advisability of having the entire freshman class represented in student government against the necessity of having efficient legislators, the committee wrote the residence requirement into the new constitution.

Denied of personal representation in the Assembly, it is up to the first and second quarter freshmen to make their wishes known to the members of the group. It becomes the responsibility of the Assembly to consider at all times the welfare and the desires of the unrepresented freshmen.

The Kernel Explains Its Editorial Policy

With the beginning of every school year comes the time for a reassertion of Kernel policy for the benefit of those unacquainted with the campus newspaper.

The Kernel is first a student newspaper—student owned, edited, and operated. For those interested in journalism it furnishes an opportunity for professional experience. To all students on the campus The Kernel opens its

Our special desire this year is to keep the student body informed on the Student Government association Assembly and its meetings. We feel that through The Kernel the students can best make known their wishes to the Assembly.

We shall try to represent in The Kernel all groups on the campus, both civilian and military. We urge all soldiers with journalistic inclinations to submit their copy to us. Before it is printed, however, all such material must be approved by the military authorities.

It is our aim to make this page a clearing-house of student opinion. If you have something to say, write a letter to the editor. If you do not want your name signed to the letter, we shall substitute a pen name. Your name will be kept in strict confidence by the editor, but all communications must be signed.

The Kernel tries to clear up all matters of doubt in the student mind. If you think an editorial should be written on any subject, feel free to come in and talk it over with us.

STRICTLY PRIVATE

By Pfc. C. Edwin Barnes

Two Flunks or not Two Flunks, that is the question.

When men like Jack McNeal and "Windy" Meyers leave Dr. Fischer's Analytics quiz singing "Drinking Beer in a Cabaret," it's not just a song but a prediction. It's back to Mineral Wells unless they do better next time. Of course Hal Rucker and Eric Hoyer are not having any trouble along that line. The only grade many of us will make is the one from the Cottage to Rose Street on Saturday afternoons.

Determined to surpass Bill Carroll's Purple Heart (for playing tennis), John Seay turned up recently with a beautiful decoration for a recent encounter . . . a black eye.

Tri-Delt Julie Johnson's far-away look in her eye, better known as Lt. "Buddy" Barrett, was back last week-end from bombing Berlin. After making an estimate of the situation, "Chink" Sengle immediately made application for the Air Corps, declaring that the way to a girl's heart must surely be over Germany. "Old Man" Ewing says the only way to a feminine heart is through a gold bar, but the only one he'll ever see is the kind you see through.

Maxie Bookbinder, who has more girls than "Slide" Spears has demerits, maintains that we should all date the cute newcomers to the campus. "After all," he grinned, "we're all freshmen in engineering."

"Pud" Goodlet said he didn't know, but if they are all as pretty as Alpha Gam pledges Sara Dee Rainey, Elizabeth Ann Lines, and Betty Haynes, no one needed encouragement.

"Tyron" Ledford was overheard barking that "Big" Richard Webb would never be successful as a pilot . . . he went right out of a tailspin with Miriam Cutler into another with Chio pledge Betty Ernst.

In an effort to keep fraternities alive, Charles Roocke and George Warwick called all fraternity men together to discuss on "All Fraternity House." It's a good machine if it works, but who will furnish the gas after Don Lail graduates?

From the Kentuckian office comes the news that the 1944 annual will have a senior section for all ROTC-ASTP who would have graduated by June. Virginia Long, this year's editor, said that activities and fraternity would be listed for each man. Pictures should be taken at the Lafayette Studio within the next two weeks.

Also from the McVey basement comes the following poem:

A bee is a prolific soul.
Who doesn't practice birth control.
And that is why in times like these,
There are so many sons of bees.

Edith Weisenberger, Student Union prexy, relates that two vacancies on the board this year will be filled by soldiers. They are to be elected from Companies A, B, C, and G. George Dudley was nominated from G company, but since all soldiers will be allowed to vote, it will take all of his company and the entire student body to elect him . . . nice job, just like fighting a machine gun with a water pistol. In the future just call him pistol packin' momma. At any rate, Edith invites everyone connected with the University to hear from the candidates on Stoll field tonight from 6:15 to 7:30.

Perhaps just as interesting is the fact that Thanksgiving and Christmas dances are being contemplated. They hope to get Will Osborne.

Sigma Chi Ray Burnett, candidate in Armored OCS at Ft. Knox, says with all the damn gold they have down there, he can't see why the Army should be so stingy in passing out a few little gold bars . . . neither can we!

KA Johnny Dallavo, who was out to make a three point standing in Doris Smith's class of affection, just flunked his first tough quiz . . .

Cpl. Hampton Hinton, however, made a perfect score.

The nearest thing we have seen to combat around here is "Colonel Pete" Triplett vs. Jay Rhodeneyer for Elaine Swift . . . now see here Patty Dimples, you can't let our boy Pete get hurt.

Flash! Harrison Dixon had a date, not bad either . . . we don't understand why he didn't get around to that cute little Kappa Frances Lawton a long time ago . . . neither can Frances.

The only thing that ever quiets Dick Stofor is his heart beat Jo Glascock. After writing her name twenty thousand times in engineering drawing, Stofor decided a "Two H" pencil was the one to use.

Thirty days has September, April, June and Russell White for courting . . . untimely connection, eh Russ old boy?

G. I. Sweepings...

By BABY

In last week's Kernel, Pfc. Edwin Barnes hopefully, but unthinkingly stated that "it would be good to see the Big Blue go romping to another victory." Naturally he was referring to the football challenge of the ASTP boys versus the former Big Blue boys.

Remember, Ed, there is always a first time. (I have no doubt that all the boys will try their best at the game—in an amiable spirit.)

To Betty and Betty Inc. (Ad Libbing to you): I'll vouch for the ASTP boys that they aren't wolves. I live with them so I ought to know. However we weren't asked when the leashes were put around our necks.

Attention Co. B—An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. How well that can be applied to the second battle of Lexington taking place at Bradley hall. The boys of Co. C have the mouse situation well in hand. An ex-resident of Patterson hall tipped us off and now we have taken as our unofficial mascot a young cat educated according to the best ASTP tradition. As a result the fair ladies won't have to resort to convoy duty from Co. B men. What would they be doing in those parts of the campus anyhow?

Fellows, the girls complain about the food in Jewell hall. We have our own troubles and better settle them first.

Everyone read last week's article in the Kernel referring to the physical fitness schedule the soldiers undergo. We are going to be tested again within the next two weeks and an audience would definitely spur our improvement.

UK In World War I

By Mary Louis Mitts

Editor's Note: "UK in World War I" takes us back 25 years to another college era and another generation to give us a picture in similarity and contrast between campus life in wartime then and now. The reports are from the UK newspaper files of 1918.)

An Apology

Owing to the negligence of the printers, who did not carry out the correction in proof, an outworn word appeared in last week's Kernel. The blamish was on the first page in a letter written by one of the boys "over there" to a friend in the University. The management regrets the mistake and takes this opportunity to apologize to its readers. (Note to editor: The word was "damn.")

Private Zimmlie Zane, the Kentucky wise owl, having recently joined the S. A. T. C., says:

"Be a miser.
Swat the Kaiser.
On the level.
He's a devil.
Buy a shell

Give him—but what's the use of indulging in personalities?

No Thanksgiving game! Flu. For the first time in years the Wildcats can eat their turkey in peace, with no thoughts of a coming gridiron struggle, and townspeople with the lure of the pigskin removed, can observe the day with true Puritan tranquility.

Fresh Blunder Of 25 Years Ago
A Freshman member of the S. A. T. C. who took an entrance examination in English wrote: "I have read Robinson Caruso and Ivan Hoe"

Postscript on Freshman's examination paper: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver"

An almost breathless young Freshman came rushing up the steps of the New Chemistry Building and arrived at the lecture room just as "Mighty" Maxson was closing the door.

"You didn't run fast enough," reprimanded "Mighty"
"I ran fast enough," retorted the freshie, "but I didn't start in time."

It looks "powerful good" to see the droopy sweaters and bright skirts decorating the campus again after the summer heat rather than the never clean or pressed wash clothes.

With the manpower situation pretty well shot no matter how you figure it, and the shortage becoming increasingly apparent, it becomes more and more certain that the gal who has the most positive points that add up to a good total is going to be the one with the big Saturday night date. By one with a good total I mean the female who has something more than the next three who are giving her stiff competition. And believe me when I write it down, that Saturday night date, i. e., whether or not you play bridge with the girls, can make a big difference in your morale and general get up and go in regard to the ole textbooks.

Clothes can be a very telling factor in whether you make a coup de grace or fizzle out and don't even set your size 7's (let's be modest about this) inside the Bluegrass room door. (I mean the one in the Union, dear) or win a chucker of polo in the back room of the Cottage. They can glaringly expose or cleverly conceal your bad points. And what sex they can put into those good points! Just give Mother Nature a chance, gals!

This year the accent is on quality rather than quantity. One good sweater is better than two cheap ones. Everything you rob the piggy bank for must be chosen with an eye to lasting quality, its chic several years from now, and becomingness for all time. Clothes are quite expensive this fall as you found when you bought your school clothes, but it pays in the long run to pay more, have them fit better and wear longer, than less, and see them fade and crack as if they were candidates for the first rummage sale.

This is all the advice I'm handing out for now on how to buy better clothes for more money, or don't trip over that barbed wire in the Botanical Gardens at night, and rip your skirt, 'cause they're getting harder to get every day, but I'll be back in future issues to aid you femmes with your little problems.

The Story Of A Starling, Or, Hand Me An Umbrella

By Adele Denman

The subject's old; the birds are new But the word for them is still phew! Only God can make a tree. But why make such a liability?

In God's creation these birds do sit Each discarding a little bit. They scream, chirp, and beat the air, Like you know what's, out of you know where.

Their passion for man is good and true But their means of expression is entirely new. They're perfect marksmen; none are poor. Ask Becker, Lexington, and De Boer.

But do they trouble me? Almost never—I think birds are cute and clever. Now I'm sitting under a tree—Why—that flamedool buzzard can't do that to me!

RESEARCH AND ENGINEERING KEEP GENERAL ELECTRIC YEARS AHEAD

THE "BAZOOKA"

SERENADES by the Army's "bazooka" corps are getting hands in the air on the enemy front and handclapping from the folks back home.

This new anti-tank weapon, dubbed the bazooka from some remote resemblance to Bob Burns' blowpipe, is small enough to be fired by one man, after a second man loads it. It hurls such a powerful projectile that, after one shot struck a nearby tree, the commander of six enemy tanks surrendered them.

believing that he was being shelled by 175 mm guns.

"It is so simple and yet so powerful," said Major General L. H. Campbell, Jr., Chief of Army Ordnance, "that any foot soldier using it can stand his ground with the certain knowledge that he is the master of any tank which may attack him."

For over a year the bazooka has been in mass production at a General Electric plant that formerly made washing machines and other home appliances.

MAL DE MARS

TIME was when the testing of marine equipment had to be done at sea, aboard the type of ship for which the equipment was intended. Now, however, with machines such as the Scorsby tester in G. E.'s Aeronautics and Marine Laboratories the range of detectors and other equipment can be checked right on land, against a fixed horizon.

The device simulates the roll and pitch of a moving ship—and the resulting seasickness. The time of the ship's complete roll can be duplicated—all the way from the nine seconds for a destroyer to the eighteen seconds for aircraft carriers.

The tester is capable of holding 10,000 pounds and is composed of two huge iron doughnuts, the lower one platformed, which are held about four feet apart by two motor-driven arms. General Electric Co., Schenectady, New York.

To the Young Man

Who is

Or who is about to . . .

What we folks at home are trying to do about postwar may seem sometimes remote and obscure. You haven't had much chance to get acquainted with peacetime industry, and to see it in its true role as a creative job-maker.

Take our own business, Alcoa Aluminum.

You know about the tremendous expansion in aluminum capacity. You see most of this seven-fold production going into the planes you are going to fly, the planes that will be your cover on the attack.

But Aluminum's true role is no more military than yours is. Both of us do have an immediate job to do; and then, the future—

Ever stop to think how many things in this old world are crying to be made lighter? Or how many ingenious, imaginative young men are going to be needed to apply and sell and manufacture the more than two billion pounds of aluminum that will be available every year when this thing is over?

Actually, we see the possibility of a million jobs, doing something with aluminum in peacetime, a million new jobs that did not exist before this war. There are grand careers ahead in aluminum!

We are devoting our eighth day of thinking time to doing what we can to make those careers as certain as anything can be. We call it Imaginering: letting the imagination search the realm of new products and new applications, and then engineering the dreams, the hunches, the markets, into clear paths to follow, someday.

Perhaps one of those paths will be yours to follow in the future.

A PARENTHETICAL ASIDE: FROM THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF ALCOA ALUMINUM

This message is printed by Aluminum Company of America to help people to understand what we do and what sort of men make aluminum grow in usefulness.
